Swap party at Joe Pye, Elephant Pharmacy opening, plus exclusive offers for Lucky readers. By Melissa McElhatton desperately seeking flowers

Here's our roundup of the best places to get blooms for every wedding, shower, or other celebration that comes your way this spring.

Cherries At the store's new location, shoppers can peruse lilacs, peonies, and viburnum (all in season in May), as well as a nice selection of antiques. 2436 Polk St., 415-441-0310

Bloomers Asymmetrical, luxurious, English garden-style arrangements (starting at $50) are the hot pick here, along with a beautiful selection of ribbons and cards to accompany each bouquet. 2975 Washington St., 415-563-3266

Fiordella When ordering a delivery from this custom-order specialist, we suggest you ask for the wax box vase. Perfect for low, full arrangements, it can hold a votive candle when the flowers are gone. 1920 Polk St., 415-775-4065

Rayon Vert With an array of antiques and gifts, including vases, candles, and bath products complementing its eclectic garden-style floral arrangements ($55 and up), the shop feels a bit like a French flea market. 3187 16th St., 415-861-3516

Rose and Radish This modern flower shop is known for its simple, sculptured arrangements using three colors or fewer, without filler. May picks: sweet peas, poppies, or ranunculus. 460 Gough St., 415-864-4988

Branch Out Floral and Event Design This shop offers unique arrangements for weddings and other events: modern Japanese-inspired designs, rustic wildflower themes, and even an all-vegetable bouquet ($150 and up). Linens, lighting, and prop rentals are also available. By appointment only, 415-334-2364 or branchoutflowers.com

LUCKY ONLY SPECIALS

Hair Play

Known for its cuts and color, this salon has just opened a second location to accommodate its huge fan base. Lucky readers who are first-time clients save 20 percent on color treatments at the Church Street location, regularly $50 to $160. 1599 Dolores St., 415-550-1656; 211 Church St., Ste. A, 415-863-0703
